

Invasive non-native species – 2nd Annual Workshop Meeting

Tuesday 30th October 2012

Who is it for?

This event is targeted at public body, local authority and NGO staff as well as land and water managers and their representative bodies.

What is it about?

From 2nd July 2012 Scotland is set to have the most wide ranging non-native species legislation in Europe. The new law places a focus on biosecurity. This event will explore how this will work in practice and the role that stakeholders will play.

What will you gain from attending?

An increased understanding of the new legislation and how it will work in practice. An opportunity to share and learn from others' experiences in the biosecurity and control of invasive, non-native species.

Content:

Presentations, case studies and workshops looking at the new legislation, updates on progress since last year's event and the sharing of experience and ideas.

Topics will include: potential funding opportunities, awareness raising, co-ordination of effort and stakeholder engagement.
