

Have you seen this pest?

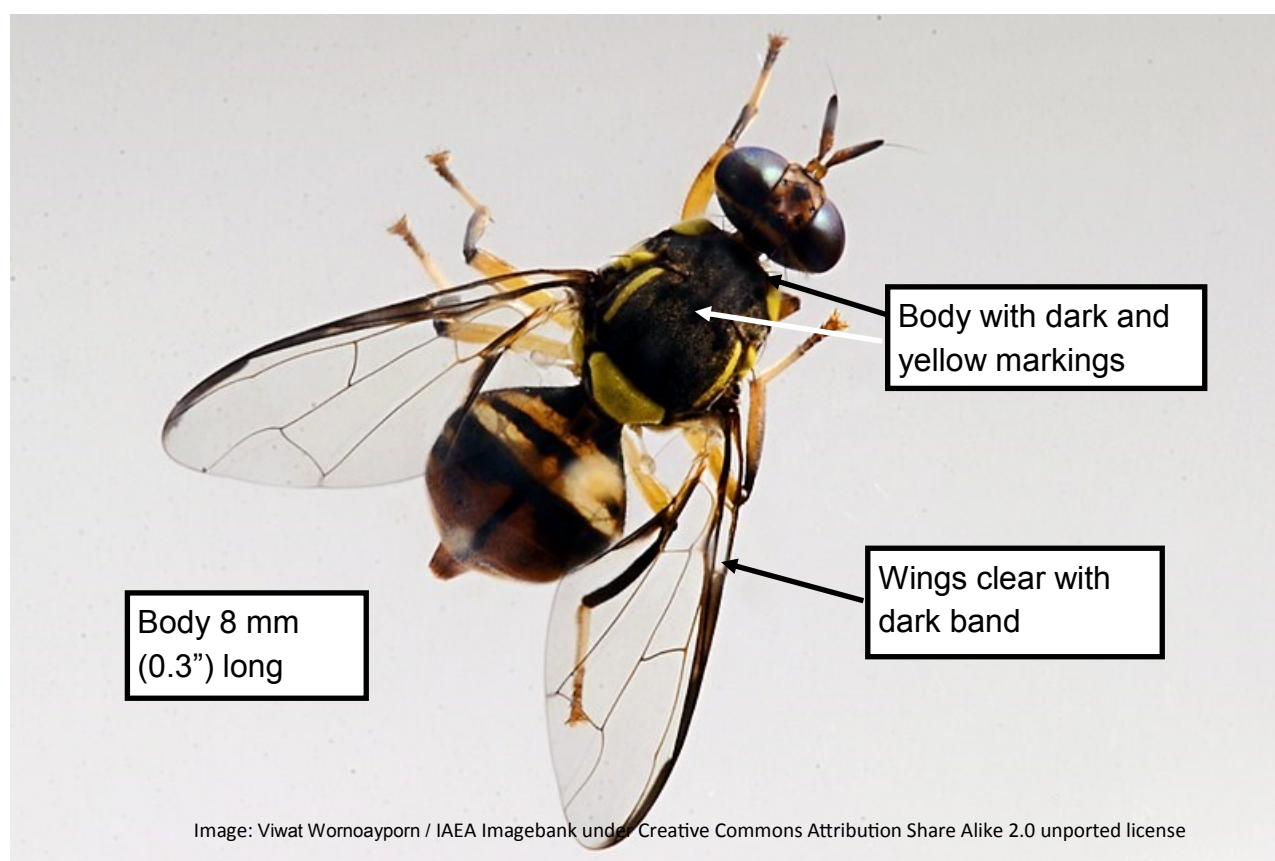

CARAMBOLA FRUIT FLY

Bactrocera carambolae

What is it?

A fruit fly from southern Thailand, Peninsular Malaysia, Singapore, Borneo, Indonesia and Andaman Islands (India). Carambola fruit fly is a serious plant pest that feeds on over 100 plant species. Suspected sightings should be reported immediately using the details provided at the bottom of this poster.

Where might I see it?

Fruit flies can be found as eggs or larvae in fruits or as adults caught in traps. Affected fruit may have puncture marks or globules of sugar on the skin.

Please report any sightings of this species by calling:

1664 491 2075